Miss Florence West received a solid silver medal. A gold chain was attached and it was placed around her neck while the other swimmers applauded. Miss Eleanor Webber was awarded a similar medal, but as she is in Pennsylvania it will be forwarded to her.

Medals with watch fobs were presented to Alfred Brown, John Kearns, Arthur W. Thompson, Robert Atling, Arthur Dritley and Charles J. Siegfried, the latter a one-legged man.

A gold life-saving medal was presented to Harry R. Davis, who on the day of the swim rescued Arthur Dietz. Davis had begun the swim, but gave it up after going a couple of miles. Then he was taken in one of the boats, and when Dietz was sinking Davis jumped overboard and aft diving twice brought Dietz to the surface.

SLEUTHS TO BE ROUNDSMEN.

M'ADOO'S PLANS FOR USING THE UNNEEDED DETECTIVES.

Another Scheme Is to Have a Force of Italian Policemen-The Commissioner Says That a Good Part of His Headquarters Force Is Incompetent.

More than one-third of the detective sergeants attached to the Detective Bureau at Headquarters-"pitchforked" there, Commissioner McAdoo says-are to go back to duty in uniform and pound the sidewalks as roundsmen.

Although the formal order has not yet been issued, the announcement of the change was made yesterday by the Commissioner. Many of the men who will be affected never even had a sergeant's uniform.

The detective sergeants who are of no use to the Detective Bureau will go," said the Commissioner yesterday. "You know that 113 of them were pitchforked onto the department without regard to their fitness or ability. Many have been reduced, only to regain their rank through the courts. The weakness of the detective force is

"Is this move because of Mr. Jerome's strictures?" was asked.

"Not at all," replied Mr. McAdoo The Commissioner gave out a typewritten statement explaining his reason for putting some of the detectives in uniform. It fol-

By reason of unwise and vicious laws and the method of appointment, the force of de-tective sergeants attached to these Headquarters is unsatisfactory. There are 289 of them, and of this number only a small proportion have real detective ability. The qualifications of a real detective are of the very highest order of intelligence. Knowledge of men and things, sound judgment, natural endowments and experience should be the basis of his qualifications. Not a few of the present number were appointed for them did not even come in under the civil service as patrolmen, and no civil service examination even can practically determine whether or not a man will make a good de-

It is an outrage on the Police Department and the city that this force instead of being diminished the courts feel compelled continually to increase their number for various technical reasons. Worse than that, what might be called the sergeants of the regular line will not receive these men as belonging to their grade and entitled to hearty cooperation.

ere are some very excellent detectives There are some very excellent detectives attached to this department—honest, intelligent and capable men. In order to utilize a portion of this large force with some advantage to the department, I have determined to make patrol sergeants of a number of them, putting them in a uniform and giving them outside roundsmen's work in precincts to which they are sent. I will also be continually on the lookout for duties that they can perform better than those now given them. A radical remedy would have to come from the Legislature.

The order which will come in a day or so.

The order which will come in a day or so, the Commissioner explained, would hit about 100 of the detective sergeants. "We are short of roundsmen," he added. "These sergeants will go out on duty in a sergeants' uniform, but they will do the work of a roundsman"

work of a roundsman"
"Is it not true that the department is hampered by the three platoon system?" was asked.
"No: it is true that there are some cogs and wheels that do not run smoothly, but

th more roundsmen, or sergeants doing e work I have planned, much of this will The Italian crimes, which have been frequent of late, also received the attention of the Commissioner yesterday. He an-nounced that he was about to organize a staff of Italian policemen. On this subject

I have made arrangement to utilize the Italians on the police force in the congested Italians on the police force in the congested Italians of Italians for general work under the direction of Detective-Sergeant Petrosino. I regret to say that the number of Italians on the force is not large and I would be glad to see more of these people take the civil service examination for appointment as patrolimen so that their numbers on the police force would be somewhat proportionate to the large Italian propulation.

patrolmen so that their numbers on the police force would be somewhat proportionate to the large Italian population.

The trouble is that an Italian criminal at once seeks refuge behind racial and national sympathy and many of his countrymen, otherwise honest, believe it a sort of patriotic duty to shield him from the officers of the law. The police work with the Italians, even at its best, will not get the results desired unless it is followed up by a moral movement on the part of the better class of Italians and the Italian newspapers.

These Italians are here, and they are here to stay, and they are destined to become a very important factor in the life of this city. The first thing to be done is to have them voluntarily come to the aid of the police in running down the criminal and reckless element among their own people. The honest Italian must be made to understand that the police are not his enemies, but his friends, and that his first duty as a good citizen is to help us in enforcing the law, especially against his own countrymen. Decent, honest and habitually carrying pistols and knives. No honest Italian needs a knife of pistol in New York. The police duty at present is to this the deducation, and we will give him every possible protection. The worst chout it now is that they conceal these threats and yield to the blackmail.

"Is this new staff to deal with the Black"

"Is this new staff to deal with the Black Hand and the Mafia?" was asked.
"I don't recognize those names," said the Commissioner. "These men will deal with the lawless class. If this crime were organized we could handle it, but being spasmodic it is difficult. In this work Lesk the converse it is difficult. In this work I ask the coopera of the Italians of the better class and of the newspapers. The Commissioner denied the stories that the cadets were once more busy on the lower East Side and that young girls the lower East Side and that young girls were openly insulted on the street. To back up his denial Mr. McAdoo produced a recent report of Inspector Max Schmittberger that the police conditions in his district had never been better.

"I am going to arrange for the strictest watch by the police in that district," said Mr. McAdoo. "And I am going to have the roundamen and sergeants watch the patrolmen."

JEROME APPLAUDS IT.

Step in the Right Direction, He Calls the Weeding of the Detective Bureau.

District Attorney Jerome said yesterday that Commissioner McAdoo's decision to send some of the detective sergeants back to patrol duty seemed to be a step in the right direction in weeding the Detective Bureau of a lot of men not fit for the work who only hampered the good men. When told that Commissioner McAdoo had defended the three platoon system in reply to his criticism, Mr. Jerome said: "I am not going to discuss the system. I simply have said that from my observa-tions and those of others the streets are not properly patrolled at certain hours of the night. The people are not paying mil-lions for policemen simply to wear brass

The criticism that Mr. Jerome's remarks on the police force, from the politicians' point of view, might be regarded as untimely, seemed to amuse the District Atlanta.

"What's time got to do with a thing like this, anyway?" he asked. "I'm not looking for any gratuities from any one. I've always played a lone hand when I had it, and played it to the limit without getting cold feet, when I had the money. The question is, whether this thing is so or not. If it's so, something ought to be done about it right away. If it isn't so, then I'm willing to apologize for what I said.

"The name of the Commissioner who observed the same thing that I did in his tour of the city doesn't enter into this thing at all. He gave me permission to use his name.

He gave me permission to use his name, but I'm not going to, because it makes no difference whether it was said by a Commissioner or a bootblack. The question is: Is it true?"

FATALLY HURT, NOT DRUNK. ambulance Surgeon's Mistaken Diagnosis in Case of Broker Kent.

Theodore Kent, a curb broker, who had been known in the financial district for forty years, died in the Hudson street hospital, resterday morning, of a fractured skull, after having spent many hours of unconsciousness in a cell at the Old Slip police

On Saturday afternoon after completing his day's work, Kent, who was 67 years old, started toward Crook's Hotel, 114 Park Row, where he lived, accompanied by George Draper, another curb broker.

On the way they decided to go into a basenent saloon on Pine street, between Nassau and William streets, for a drink. In descending Kent fell, fracturing his skull.

An ambulance was called and he was taken away. His friend, Draper, followed to the Hudson street hospital to ascertain his condition, and there was told that Kent was dead drunk and had been taken to the Old Slip police station. Draper then went to the police station. There he was told that Kent could not be bailed out until he had become sober.

RETURNED TO SCENE OF CRIME. Police Arrest Woman in Room in Which

She Had Attacked Lover With a Razor. Mrs. Carmilla De Falco, who, a month ago, shockingly wounded Domenico Granito as he lay in bed in their apartments at 290 Van Buren street, Newark, and who escaped in her nightdress, was captured by the police yesterday in the very room where the assault was committed. She was locked up in the Third precinct police station. It was said yesterday that she would probably be released, as Granito had made no charge against her and is said to have sailed for Italy. He recovered from his injuries a fortnight or so ago.

Mrs. De Falco was living with Granito at the time of the assault. According to the accounts given at the time, she was enraged because he had told her that he was tired of her and would return to Italy the next day. She attacked him with a razor as he slept. It is said that less than a year ago Mrs. De Falco and her husband, heodore, took Granito as a boarder in heir rooms at 290 Van Buren street, and their rooms at 290 van Buren street, and that De Falco, becoming suspicious of the boarder, ordered him to leave. ITALIAN PROTECTED FROM MOB Man Accused of Assaulting Child Stoned on Way to Police Station.

Mrs. Annie Reeber of 96 Scholes street Williamsburg, in the Manhattan avenue police court, yesterday, accused Felis Neopolitan, an Italian baker who lives at 142 Leonard street, of having maltreated her five-year-old daughter Kate, in the basement of his house. It was alleged that on Monday night the Italian coaxed the child into his house. She afterward told her mother and when Policemen Wilkinson and Simonds of the Stagg street station arrested Neopolitan an angry crowd of neighbors pulled Neopolitan away and beat him se-

The policemen were forced to draw their clubs and hold the crowd at bay until assistance arrived. On the way to the station house in a patrol wagon Neopolitan was stoned. He stoutly denied the charge made against him. He was taken to court yesterday under a heavy guard and held in $500 bail for a hearing next Wednesday.

SEVEN PERSONS DIE IN FIRE,

PANIC AND DEATH IN EAST SIDE TENEMENT BLAZE.

Father, Mother and Twin Babes Perish -Also Their Three Boarders-Twelve Persons Rescued by Human Chain -Fire Not Incendiary, Marshal Says.

Seven persons were killed by suffocation early yesterday morning in a tenement fire at 70 First street. The dead include four members of one family, father, mother and twin children, and three men who boarded with them. Several other persons, perhaps a score, were injured. The dead are:

KONOWITZ, ANTON, 30 years old, a cloakmaker, arned and suffecated to death on the top floor. KONOWITZ, ANNIE, his wife, 26 years old.

Their twin sons, 5 weeks old. KATZTELAN, STEPHEN, 25 years old, tailor TROVSEWITZ, ANTON, 23 years old, tallor.

TUROWITZ, ---, tailor.
The tenement is of unusual shape, having forty feet front and twenty-five feet depth. There are two rooms on the west side and three on the east side in each floor. The stairway is in the centre. About twenty-five families live in the house. The fire started in the staircase leading from the ground floor to the toilet in the basement. There were some stories at first of incerdiarism, but nothing was found to substantiate such a theory. The flames had burned for some time and had gained considerable headway before they were discovered. Mrs. Louisa Bannow. who lives across the street, saw the blaze first and gave the alarm.

On the corner of First avenue and First street was a crowd of young men, including "Kid" Foley and Charles Katz, who live in the neighborhood. When Foley and Katz heard Mrs. Bannow's cries they ran to the burning building and climbed up the awning fixtures to the second floor. Their companions ran to Houston and Allen streets and turned in an alarm.

Foley and Katz first kicked in the windows of the flats occupied by Jacob Saffa and Mrs. Scheurman, the nousekeeper. By that time the crackling of the flames wesaudible and smoke was fast filling the house. Foley went into the hall and shouted until he awoke many of the tenants of the upper floors. Then he found two-year-old Rebecca Saffa and carried her to a window and lowered her in the street.

Katz, in the meantime, got several childdren of the Saffa family and put them on a fire escape. From there they were taken down by men to the street. Policemen Auld, Wynne and Fitzgerald of the Fifth street station, and Detective Cahill went to the second floor in the adjoin ing tenement at 68 First street and formed a human chain to the corresponding floor a numan coain to the corresponding noor in the burning building. A dozen persons were thus rescued, including Mrs. Schuerman, whose nightdress caught fire while she was being taken along the cornice. der company raised their 25 and 50-foot ladders and took down many of the tenants, relieving the crush on the fire escapes. When the 50-foot ladder was raised Fireman Henning took a length of hose and entered a window on the top floor. There he found four bodies lying on the floor of one of the rooms occupied by the Konowitz family. Chief Larkin ordered the men of Truck 18 to chop holes in the roof, and sent up another hose. When the firemen had drowned out the flames and entered the flat the bodies of the three boarders were found in an adjoining room.

Konowitz's body was found just outside the door leading to the stairway. His head and arms were badly burned. His wife lay near the bed and beside her were suffocated by the smoke.

The fire did about $1,500 damage. Capt.
Steve McDermott of the East Firth street station said later that he thought the fire was of incendiary origin. Assistant Fire Marshal De Malignon, who made an in-vestigation, differed with the captain. He said that there were no traces of incendiarism.

Israel Saffa, who lived in the house, told a story of having found a burning broom in the ground floor hall one day last week. He put out the blaze and told the housekeeper. Nothing more was heard of the The Konowitz family had lived in the ACTS ON CIVIL SERVICE PLAINT. Mayor Calls for Explanations and Says the Law Shall Be Kept.

Mayor McClellan has taken speedy action on the complaint of the Civil Service Re forth Association that the spirit of the Civil Service law is being violated by the heads of several departments, who use appointments in the labor class for political purposes, and that the Municipal Civil Service Commission has not prevented this practice.

Park Commissioner Schmitt of The Bronx was one of the department heads specifically mentioned by the association. Yesterday the Mayor forwarded to Mr. Schmitt the accusations made by the association and directed him to "Report to me specifically as to all the statements of facts contained in said papers, making such explanations, admissions or denials as the facts warrant." The Mayor also wrote to President McCooey of the Municipal Civil Service Commission, instructing him to make a "full explanation or denial" of the charges made by the association To the association the Mayor wrote that he had started an investigation into the charges contained in their letter to him, and added:

I shall be glad if you will at any time, in this way or in any other way in your power, assist the present city administration in en-forcing the Civil Service law, both in letter

RALPH ROSE AFTER JEFFRIES. Champion Shot Putter Thinks He Is the Real Thing as a Fighter.

CHICAGO, Sept. 13.—Raiph Rose, the notes alifornia athlete, now at the University of Michigan, is after James Jeffries, heavy-weight pugilist of the world. Rose, who holds the world's record for putting the shot, wants to become a prizefighter, and declares that he is the only man in the world capable of

In a letter to a Chicago friend he is credited with saying, among other things: "I believe I am the only man in the world who can lick Jeffries. I have a stronger right arm than Jeffries. I can hit a harder punch, and if I ever hit him on the neck I'll kill him. There is no reason to believe that I could not whip Jeffries. I know he stands to-day as the premier man of the prizering. But I am a premier man of the prizering. But I am a swifter man on my feet, I have a harder punch, a longer reach, as much nerve and endurance and enough experience in the boxing game to win. Out there on the Coast I used to do nothing but box before I took up athletics. My father didn't want me to follow the game and so I cut it out and took up athletics instead. But I have always kept at the boxing game and there were few men out there on the Coast who dared put on the gloves with me. I weigh 225 pounds and certainly am very much shiftler on my pins than Jeffries."

RODENBACH'S ARM INJURED. Amateur Champion Heavyweight Will Not Compete at St. Louis.

Word has reached THE SUN that Billy Rodenbach, the holder of the amateur heavyweight championship of the United States will not compete in the amateur bexing cham-pionships to be decided at St. Louis on Sept. 19 pionships to be decided at St. Louis on Sept. 19 to 24. Rodenbach was entered in these contests, but it will be impossible for him to compete owing to the fact that he has a lame right arm. Rodenbach is not able to raise the member up to his head without suffering intense pain. The ligaments of the arm, just at the elbow, are tightened up. Rodenbach hurt the arm in his fight with Joe Berger at San Francisco a few months ago.

Rodenbach thinks that the injury will keep him out of the game for good, as a number of physicians who examined the arm said that the only cure for the trouble was several years complete rest. As Rodenbach is growing old, he thinks the long lay off will deprive him of his form.

Great Pacer Dan Patch Is III.

TOPEKA, Kan., Sept. 13 .- Dan Patch, the pacer, owned by W. M. Savage of apolis, is sick here with strangulated hernia, and it is not thought the animal can live. The horse was exhibited at the State Fair here. Last year when Dan Patch stepped the mile in 1:38% behind a wind shield he established a mark at that kind of going that is expected to stand for years. He also holds the half mile record of 0:56, has pulled a high wheeled sulky a mile in 2:04% and paced a mile to wagon in 2:03%. Dar Patch is by Joe Patchen.

CANADA CUP RACES. Arrangements Made for Contest to Bezin

on Aug. 12 Next Summer. The Royal Canadian Yacht Club has challenged the Rochester Yacht Club for a race to be sailed next season for the Canada cup. This trophy is emblematic of the championyear by the boat representing the Rochester Yacht Club, the Irondequoit. This boat defeated the Strathcona in a very close series of races. A committee of the Royal Canadian of races. A committee of the Royal Canadian Yacht Club visited Rochester this week and has been conferring with the Rochester committee. As both sides were anxious for a race no shoals were struck and the arrangements have been satisfactorily made.

The match is to be sailed next summer, beginning Aug. 12. Last year the boats were 40 feet on the water line, but these boats are rather expensive to build, and so it has been arranged that the next cup racers shall are rather expensive to build, and so it has been arranged that the next cup racers shall be 30 footers. The same general conditions that governed the last series will prevail again next year, and these details will be made public as soon as they are completed. It is very probable that the Canadians will go to England for a design for the challenger. The Irondequoit was designed by William Gardner, and it is said that as soon as a syndicate has been formed Mr. Gardner is to get the order for the new defender.

The Canada cup was originally won by the yacht Canada and then made a perpetual challenge cup. It has alternated between this country and Canada since it was first raced for, the defending yacht always having been beaten in the contest.

JOE GANS TO RETIRE. Lightweight Champion Will Fight No More

After Match With Walcott. Al Herford, manager of Joe Gans, the lightweight champion, in a letter to THE SUN says that, win or lose with Joe Walcott at San Francisco this month, Gans will retire. Her-ford declares that Gans has determined upon ford declares that Gans has determined upon this step not because he is afraid of being whipped, but because he is tired of the game and wishes to go into some other business. Gans has been boxing over twelve years. He has engaged in bouts with the best men in and out of his class. He never kicked against weight, and was ever ready to make a match with rivals who had the advantage by from half a dozen to a dozen pounds. Of late Gans has net been fighting so well. This may be due to the fact that he has never been called upon to extend himself in these fights. In his bout with Walcott, though, he will have a chance to show something of his eld form. Those who know Gans's condition say that the lightweight champion will easily dispose of the "Barbados Black," and with a knockout punch, too.

English May Challenge for Seawanhaka

The Royal St. Lawrence Yacht Club, which still holds the Seawanhaka challenge cup for small boats, is getting very tired of having to defend that trophy each summer and there are many yachtsmen who think that it would be a good thing if the cup could be won and held by some other club for a time. The Royal St. Lawrence club has successfully defended it for nine years. It has now a challenge from a Minnesota yacht club for another race for next year, but challenge can be sent in for thirty days after the close of the series and then the club holding the cup can elect which one it will accept. The Royal St. Lawrence club has announced that it would like to have a race with some English club and that if an English club challenges it will be accepted at once. According to the English yachting papers there is a strong likelihood of an English club challenging for the cup. still holds the Seawanhaka challenge cup

German Emperor Withdraws Order for Herreshoff Yacht.

The Herreshoffs will not build a schooner yacht for the German Emperor this year. The Emperor asked for plans for a 110-foot schooner and they were sent. Then he wanted certain changes made in the draught, deck and other parts of the boat to which N. G. Herreshoff would not agree. For some time cablegrams passed to and from Bristol and Berlin. No agreement was reached. The London Yachting World anzounces that the Emperor has withdrawn his order for a Herreshoff boat.
